DISPLAY POLICY

OVERVIEW

In this school we will celebrate the achievement of learners by giving their work prominence in displays in classrooms and in the shared areas of the school. The colourful displays of a wide range of learners' work will become an excellent feature of school and they will make a positive contribution to our ethos. They will reinforce and celebrate learners' creativity and the creative teaching and learning that takes place in school.

OBJECTIVES

1. This policy will ensure that the school is filled with excellent displays of the learners' work.
2. To demonstrate to all who see the displays, the excellence and enjoyment that learners gain from the curriculum teaching and learning.
3. To have on show a wide range of work that represents the rich and broad curriculum provided for learners.
4. To ensure that all classrooms and teaching areas are exciting and welcoming places filled with examples of learners' work.
5. To set high standards of display to show learners' work at its best and to demonstrate to all the high levels of expectation promoted by the school.

STRATEGY

1. Teachers will be responsible for the quality and content of the displays in their classrooms and teaching areas. Support staff will assist teachers in mounting the displays of work.
2. Teachers should involve learners in the discussion and selection of work for display and where appropriate they will involve them with the support staff in mounting the display.
3. Displays should cover the full range of the curriculum and they should be informative and linked to teaching and learning to increase learners' knowledge.
4. All staff will provide learners' work for the shared areas of the school and rotas will be provided so that all will participate.
5. Displays will be used to communicate high standards and high expectations of work and they should be combined with books and other resources to link them to the curriculum.
6. Where appropriate some displays should be three dimensional and they might incorporate materials, professional art work, artefacts and natural objects.
7. The school will establish a resource of materials, works of art, paintings, prints, artefacts and natural objects for use in display.
8. Teachers will be responsible to see that displays are changed regularly and kept up to date and in good condition.
9. Each class will be given a time in the year when it will be invited to mount a display in the school entrance, church and the hall.
10. Displays will reflect learners' creativity, imagination and originality.

OUTCOMES

When visitors enter the school they will be impressed by the quality and range of the displays of learners' work. The work on display will support and communicate our ethos to those who see it. The displays will make strong statements about the high quality and standards of work expected in our school. The displays will make this school a happy, bright and welcoming place for children, staff and all who come here. They will reflect our rich cultural heritage and promote social cohesion.
